Emil Graff.

Died in San Antonio, Texas, last Friday, October 20th, 1916, Mr. Emil Graff of Hondo, Texas. Such was the telephone report of the sudden death of one of the best known stockmen and farmers of the Hondo vicinity. Mr. Graff had gone to San Antonio in company with friends to take in the dedication of the new Shriners' Temple, Alzafar, and the initiation of a number of Shriners, and left here in apparently good health, and not until Friday evening did he complain that he was sick, but it seems that heart failure struck him suddenly and he quickly died.

He was born in Medina county on January 30th, 1861, and was past 55 years of age, the son of a Castro Colonist and Mexican war veteran, Louis Graff, Sr., and wife, Barbara Graff, both dead.

In 1888 he was elected inspector of hides and animals of Medina county.

He was married January 14th, 1892, to Miss Wilhelmina Boehle, daughter of F. L. Boehle of Quilhi, who died August 27th, 1894, leaving surviving her a daughter, Miss Lena, and a son, Emil, who followed her in death soon after; he again married, Miss Emma Haass, daughter of Geo. Haass, Sr., of Francisco, who survives him with one son, Walter, and two daughters, Minnie and Paulina, and the elder daughter, Miss Lena, two brothers, Charles and Louis F. Graff, besides numerous nephews and nieces.

Mr. Graff was an honorary member of the Biry Sons of Herman Lodge, also was a Master Mason, Royal Arch Mason, Knights Templar and Shriner, and at his special request, made on the day of his death, Hondo Lodge A. F. & A. M., conducted the funeral services, the Knights Templar escorting the body to the grave.

The remains were interred in the Graff family graveyard, two miles east of Hondo, last Sunday afternoon, a large number of friends and relatives following the remains to the grave, the large attendance showing the esteem his fellow-citizens accorded his memory. A good man and citizen has gone to his reward.

A FRIEND.

Joe Biry.

Quite a number of people from here went to Castroville Wednesday to pay a last tribute of respect to Mr. Joe Biry, an old and highly respected citizen who passed away at his home near Castroville at 1:00 o'clock Wednesday morning, after an illness of about six months.

Mr. Biry was born at Castroville April 12, 1852, consequently he had reached the age of 64 years and a few months. While but a few years past the meridian of life, he could rightly be classed as a pioneer citizen, for this was a new country when he first saw the light of day.

Decedent was married to Miss Ottilla Becker of D'Hanis and to this union eleven children were born, of whom, five sons and three daughters, survive him. His wife preceded him in death by seven years. Besides the children mentioned above he is survived by his aged mother, now eighty-eight years of age, two brothers, Joe, of Biry and John of Castroville, besides many other relatives and friends who are deeply grieved over his passing away.

Mr. Biry had been ill for a long time, and despite all that could be done by loving hands to stay the progress of the fell destroyer the end came peacefully Wednesday morning when his spirit took its flight to its Maker, and his pain-racked body was at rest.

To the aged mother bowed with grief over the loss of a son, to the surviving children who are denied the further affectionate counsel of a father, and to his stricken brother the sympathy of the entire community go out in unreserved measure. Time, the healer of all wounds, alone can assuage their grief.

Department of the Interior United States Indian service.

Tohatchi, New Mexico, Oct. 21, 1916.

My Dear Cozen:

I am writing to again have you forward to me at this place, the Anvil Herald. I shall probably be here for some time as this is a large road project that I am on that is eventually to connect up a road from Mesa Verde National Park, Col. to Gallup, New Mexico. I find it highly enjoyable and invigorating, it has been up to the freezing point nearly every night since I have been here and sometimes in the day time it freezes.

This is on the Navajo Indian Reservation and is the largest in the U. S. I find it a wild and unsettled country, my first trip out I saw five coyotes in one bunch and the biggest wild eagle I ever saw. Wild ducks and bear are plentiful and I hope soon to report my first wild bear killed.

We are at this place between six and seven thousand feet above the sea level, the atmosphere is always very clear and places that look to be about two miles away are often as many as twenty two miles distant. It gets as cold here as it does in Montana, often fifteen and sixteen degrees below zero. Ft. Defiance is the headquarters for this Reservation, it is in the State of Arizona, Gallup is the nearest R. R. Station, it is in N. M. From what I can learn I believe that both Arizona and N. M. are safely Democratic and will be strongly in the Wilson Column. With love to all,

Your Cozen,

Upper Hondo.

Upper Hondo is taking its place among the other progressive little communities of our county; and when I say progressive, I mean of course the steps it is furthering in its school, its roads and its other affairs.

At a mass meeting of our people, we decided to have good roads and bridges, and undertook to build the first concrete bridge on the Hondo-Tarpley road. We had a very good percentage of the help to come from Tarpley and we are indeed very thankful for it.

The writer was very much impressed when he first rode across the bridge, as it was seen that the bridge was well planned and constructed, and that by our people.

Those who donated in any way certainly understand prosperity. But we still have about three more crossings that should have this concrete work and we are willing to accept something from the county.

Some seem to think that good roads are solely for automobiles, but if they will make a careful study of same they will no doubt think different.

At any rate we hope to receive assistance from the county real soon as we are entitled to it, and will always understand that fruits are harvested after the seed is sown.

Do you Want Your Kidneys Experimented On?

Kidney troubles are getting more common every day. Government health bureau figures say deaths from this cause are 72 per cent more than 20 years ago.

Anybody who suffers constant backache, who feels blue, nervous, and irritable, who has dizzy spells, headache and urinary disorders should suspect kidney weakness. Overworked kidneys must have a rest. Take things easier; live more carefully. Take a good kidney remedy to build the kidneys up again.

But be sure to get Doan's Kidney Pills—the oldest, the most widely used, the best recommended of all kidney pills, now in use all over the civilized world. Don't experiment with your kidneys. Thousands have already tested Doan's. You have their experience to go by. Plenty of cases right here in Hondo. Here's one:

Mrs. P. H. Renken, Hondo, says: "I, and others of the family have used Doan's Kidney Pills with the best of results. My kidneys were disordered and didn't act as they should. One box of Doan's Kidney Pills entirely removed the trouble."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Renken had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

ARTICLE NO. 634, PENAL CODE OF TEXAS.

"If any person shall suffer any substance, injurious to the health of those who reside in the vicinity, to remain on premises in his possession, he shall be punished by fine not less than $10.00 nor more than $100.00, and each day he permits such substance to remain on the said premises shall constitute a separate offense."

The attention of the public is directed to the above law. A good many people in this community have surface closets on their premises. A surface closet, to be sanitary and to be within the law, must be screened and cleaned out every day. Inasmuch as this community has no scavenger this is impracticable, and the public is hereby notified that pits must be provided at least six feet in depth and kept duly disinfected by use of some suitable disinfectant, such as lime. Owing to the prevalence of Typhoid Fever, Malaria, Dengue, Diphtheria, Typhus and Scarlet Fever, I feel it incumbent upon me as County Health Officer of Medina County to see that the said law is strictly enforced. I request the citizenship of Medina County who have the welfare of this community at heart, to assist in placing the community in a sanitary condition.

W. H. SMITH,
County Health Officer.

GOOD GREEN MANURING CROP

Big Value of Sweet Clover is to Turn Under to Improve Soil—Foliage Has Bitter Taste.

(By C. B. HUTCHISON, Missouri College of Agriculture.)

The chief value of sweet clover for Missouri conditions is as a green manuring crop. Being a legume, it has the power of gathering nitrogen out of the air and storing it in the soil by means of the bacteria which live upon its roots. Since it makes such a heavy growth and does well on thin lands, it makes a good crop to turn under to improve the soil.

The value of sweet clover as a pasture or hay crop is much disputed. Some farmers regard it as practically worthless and consider it a weed, while others apparently have had good success with feeding it. Its foliage has a bitter taste due to the cumarin it contains and its stems have a tendency to become woody as they mature. If not allowed to become too rank before pasturing, or if cut for hay before the first bloom buds appear, these two objectionable features may be avoided to a considerable extent and very good feed obtained. It has been found, too, that stock will learn to eat it, and after being fed or pastured on it do not object to the bitter taste, as at first. Since it is a biennial, sweet clover may take the place of red clover in the rotation on those lands where the latter does not thrive well, but on the best lands it cannot compete with either red clover or alfalfa for hay.

The fact that the bacteria in the nodules on its roots are capable of inoculating alfalfa has led to the idea that it is a valuable crop to occupy the land immediately before seeding alfalfa. This may sometimes be done, but usually lands that have never grown sweet clover need inoculation for it as well as for alfalfa. It has been found necessary to inoculate the soil on the experiment station field at Columbia for sweet clover, and even with this precaution considerable difficulty has been experienced in getting a stand. It is evident, then, that it is frequently more difficult to obtain a good stand that one might expect from a general survey of the habits and characteristic of the plant.

Regardless of the large number of patents issued by the Patent Office, much of the visible supply of ingenuity is devoted to inventing excuses.

One way to live without work is to work somebody else.

THE HONDO ANVIL HERALD

JUST FOR TONIGHT
 By EARL REED SILVERS.

The strains of "Just for Tonight" died away. Phil Randall looked into the eyes of Mildred Arnold and smiled. "Is it going to be just for tonight with us?" he whispered.

"I guess so, Phil." She spoke kindly, but there was a hint of determination in her voice. "There's Arthur, you know."

Phil frowned darkly. "Are you engaged to him?"

"Almost." Mildred's voice quivered slightly. "It isn't announced yet, but two years ago, when he was a sophomore in college, I promised him."

"And now, when you know that he isn't all you thought he was, are you going to keep your promise?"

"Yes." They had walked to the porch of the big gymnasium and were standing in the shadows. "It's the only thing for me to do."

"But your whole future is at stake."

"I know, but that doesn't make a promise less binding. Arthur hasn't done anything wrong so far as I know. He's just weak, but lots and lots of men are weak, and girls have married them just the same."

"He's a coward!" Phil spoke hotly.

"You—you really haven't any right to say that." The girl laid a restraining hand on his arm.

He was silent for a minute or two, but suddenly he turned to her impulsively. "I know I shouldn't say these things," he said "but it hurts me so to know that you are going to give yourself to someone who isn't worthy of you. Not that I am," he added hastily, "but at least I'm more of a man than Arthur Martin is."

"I know you are," Sue spoke softly. The music for the next dance drifted out of the open doorway, and Arthur Martin appeared to claim his partner. Phil watched them until they were lost in the shifting crowd of dancers.

"If only something would happen to show her what a cad he is!" he muttered.

Phil saw them at the baseball game the next afternoon, and in the evening, when he stood on the porch of Ferrell hall, where the final dance of Junior week was being held, he watched as they whirled off together to the strains of "Mighty like a Rose," the first waltz of the night.

Phil managed to engage the sixth and seventh dances with Mildred, and instead of staying in the crowded hall they walked over the shadowy paths of the Belmont campus until they came to the steps of the old King's building, where they lingered. They were half hidden in the shadows, and the two persons who stood beneath the arc light, not ten feet away, did not notice them. Phil started as he noted that one of the figures was Arthur Martin and the other Nellie Burt, whom he knew by sight as a factory hand for the Thompson company downtown.

They could hear Martin speaking angrily.

"I tell you, I'm through," he said.

"But you promised to marry me!" There was a hint of tears in the girl's voice.

"I can't marry you; I'm engaged to someone else."

"You must!" She spoke tensely, and seized the arm of his coat. "You can't turn me down like this."

"I'm not turning you down. I didn't promise to marry you—just suggested that we might possibly be married some day."

"You asked me that night on the river."

"I didn't."

"You did—you know you did."

The two in the shadows could not help hearing what was said. Phil recovered from his amazement first, and took Mildred's arm.

"Come on," he suggested. "Let's go back to the hall."

"No," Mildred spoke firmly. "I'm going to find out the truth about this affair."

Before he could stop her she had confronted Martin and the other girl.

"Arthur," she asked, "is this girl speaking the truth?"

Martin gasped as he saw her. Nellie Burt stepped forward.

"Are you the girl he's engaged to?" she asked.

"Yes."

"Well, he promised to marry me. I gave up all the other boys for him, and now he's going to turn me down."

"Don't believe her," Martin strove desperately to make his voice sound convincing.

"I heard you tell her that you had suggested marriage," Mildred spoke firmly. "I've heard rumors of this kind of things before, Arthur, but I didn't believe them. Now I know that they are so."

"But this girl isn't anything to me."

"It doesn't make any difference whether she is or not. You have avowed that you can't be trusted."

"Mildred!" There was a world of entreaty in his voice. He took a step toward her.

"No!" She turned away. "You may consider our engagement at an end." Without another word, she took Phil's arm and they walked away.

They were silent until they reached Ferrell hall. As they entered the door the strains of "Just for Tonight" floated across the room.

When the waltz was concluded he looked into her eyes.

"Is it still just for tonight with us?" he questioned.

"No, not for tonight." She smiled up at him. "For always."

WHAT CATARRH IS
 It has been said that every third person has catarrh in some form. Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body; and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the oil food in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building- tonic, free from alcohol or any harmful drugs. Try it.

Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J.

It is only necessary to grow old in order to become more indulgent. I see no fault committed to which I, myself, have not been inclined.—Goe-the.

Great ideas and great achievements, like photo negatives, must have time in the dark room to develop.

If some people could lose their tempers for good it wouldn't be such a bad world, after all.

"Goodies!"

PERUNA IS INVIGORATION
 It is a tonic that restores the balance to your bodily functions, cleans away the waste matter in your system, and keeps you up to increased effort and better health. For nearly half a century thousands have found it a valuable aid in all catarrhal conditions. Their experience points the way for you. PERUNA has stood the test that proves its value. Tablet form is convenient for quick administration. Pleasant to take and easy to carry with you.

Manila Tablets are the ideal laxative. They correct the habit of constipation, arouse the liver and help the kidneys. Your druggist has them.

Good Eye-sight is essential to health, comfort and appearance. Have you ever noticed a strained look on your face? Usually this comes from eye-strain. More wrinkles are caused by eye-strain than by old age. Headaches caused by eye-strain cannot be cured by medicine, it depends upon optical skill of the optometrist who prescribes the glasses. The third annual Fair of Atascosa County came to a close at Jourdanton
Saturday night, October 21st, after a successful session of three days.
Large and interested crowds were in attendance every day. While the exhibits were not so large as at some fairs they were very attractive, and the farm, garden, live-stock and poultry exhibits showed that Atascosa County farmers have awakened to the value of diversification and the growing of pure bred stock and poultry.
One exhibitor took the first prize for the best farm exhibit with fifteen different products from his farm. The textile, culinary and canning exhibits by the ladies were easily the best part of the fair, the canned products showing Atascosa County's resources in this line to splendid advantage. The silk-worm exhibit from Christine was unique in its way and attracted much attention. On the whole, the county will receive much benefit from the splendid little fair just closed.

TIMELY TOPICS

TERSELY TOLD

BY FLETCHER DAVIS

Field Agent of the State Department of Agriculture, in Southwest Farmer and Investor of October 15th.

For several years a great, insistent cry has been going up from the producers for better markets, for better remunerative returns for their labors.

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured

with LOCAL APPLICATIONS, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Catarrh is a blood or constitutional disease, and in order to cure it you must take internal remedies. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Cure is not a quick medicine. It was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years and is a regular prescription. It is composed of the best tonics known, combined with the best blood purifiers, acting directly on the mucous surfaces. The perfect combination of the two ingredients is what produces such wonderful results in curing catarrh. Send for testimonials, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, price 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Many bright minds have been engaged in seeking a solution of this problem. The Federal government has instituted searching investigations. Much has been said and written. And a few things have been done looking to such a solution of the problem of marketing as will enable the producer to produce at a profit while at the same time the consumer can purchase at a price that will not be prohibitive.

One of the most practical steps along this line (but one of which unfortunately too few farmers are aware) which has yet been taken has been inaugurated incidental to the Permanent Warehouse and Marketing Department. This service alone, aside from the warehouse measure, if the farmers would use it, would be worth to the State all and more than the Department will ever cost the taxpayers. The Warehouse and Marketing Bulletin

Service of that Department is here referred to.

HOW IT OPERATES.

The service operates in this way: Farmers in any community having a sufficient quantity of any product to justify shipment can list this product with the managers of the Department at Austin. In like manner, if the people in a community wish to purchase some product, such as feed, seeds or food, this want can be stated in a like manner. Twice a month a bulletin of these offerings for sale and wants to be filled are made up by the Department, and published and distributed as extensively as the co-operation of the people renders it possible. In this way, every one who has access to this bulletin is informed of what is offered for sale and what is wanted for purchase. The man with something to sell can offer it. The man with something to buy learns where it can be purchased of the producer. Or the man in need to purchase something and not finding it listed, can make his wants known. Should the man offering, for instance, feed for sale wish to buy hogs and the man with hogs for sale wished to buy feed, they can get together through this medium and trade or exchange and thus equalize the supply of different products in different parts of the State. Does it not appeal to you, therefore, that this bulletin service offered by the Warehouse and Marketing Department at Austin is fraught with vast possibilities for usefulness and profit to the farmers of Texas if they will put themselves in a position to use it and make the most of it?

MUST ORGANIZE.

A case in point: Mr. Val Link, Jr., of Euametal informed the writer that while maize was selling at retail at 3 cents per pound (the rate of $60.00 per ton) on his local market, it was quoted in the market bulletin in car lots at $16.00 per ton. Could he have induced his farmers, who were needing considerable feed, to organize and co-operate in the purchase of feed they could have saved almost $41.00 per ton, could have saved in cost enough to have enabled them to feed three tons where they fed one, thereby enlarging the demand for maize, increasing their number of fat stock, keeping more of their money at home and improving trade conditions all over the state. But in order to take advantage of these opportunities and profit thereby, farmers must organize and learn how to co-operate. In the language of the Warehouse Managers: "Somebody wants what you have; somebody has what you want; co-operate."

SERMON ON CO-OPERATION.

And speaking of co-operation, there are many other ways in which farmers can co-operate profitably besides in the matter of markets. One of the most successful examples of co-operation is found in the irrigation enterprise of the Rock Brothers on the Nueces River below Gardendale in La Salle county. A two-hundred-and-fifty-acre farm is owned by six parties. They have a 45-horse-power pumping plant on the river. They can pump 1,500 gallons of water per minute, through a twelve-inch pipe, to a two-million-gallon tank located on the highest natural elevation on the farm. From this tank the water flows by gravity through six-inch pipes to two other tanks each of a million gallons capacity, and from these three tanks, of four million gallons capacity combined, the entire farm can be irrigated by gravity flow. The tanks can be completely filled in forty-eight hours' continuous pumping. It consumes about 24 cords of wood at a cost of $2.00 per cord per day, and 110 days' pumping has sufficed for a whole year's irrigation during dryest season, with a continuous system of cropping. A liberal estimate for the cost of operation, up-keep, interest on investment, etc., places the water cost per year at less than four dollars per acre. The cost of operation and up-keep is apportioned among the six owners in proportion to their acreage. The farm is devoted chiefly to the growing of truck crops and a large acreage is being planted to onions this season. The Rock Brothers are making a success of co-operative irrigation and can give prospective irrigators many valuable pointers.

ONION GROWING.

But speaking of onion growing, it is a sight to do one's eyes good to witness the fine growth of cow-peas the onion growers of the Nueces valley are turning under in preparing their soil for the onion crop. Intensive farming has taught them the need for plenty of humus in the soil to maintain its fertility and porosity and increase its water-holding capacity. At the same time they are increasing the fertility of their soil by doing what every farmer should do, turning a nitrogen-fixing legume into the soil. This is a practice which our farmers have too long neglected. But in the absence of legume crops for turning under, there are substitutes which, while not just as good, beat no green maturing at all.

Name Your Farm

OCCASIONALLY we get a letter from a farmer on stationery on which is printed his own name and the name of his farm. In some cases we find on the margin, briefly stated, what is being made a specialty of on that farm.

This looks like business, and demands attention at once, for it catches the eye.

The editor of your county paper always stands in need of a bushel of potatoes, a sack of water-ground meal, or some such farm product, and would be glad to swap you some nice printed envelopes and paper to match for these things.

It would pay you to do some trading with this man, who is doing a lot in his way to help you, so next time you are in town talk it over with him. Before giving the order ask it over with the wife and family, and decide on an appropriate, catchy name for your farm and then—live up to it.—President Charles S. Barrett in National Field.

The Anvil Herald's Job Department is prepared, with a nice assortment of Modern and Appropriate Type and Good Paper, to assist you in carrying out President Barrett's suggestion.

BREWED AND BOTTLED BY THE
SAN ANTONIO BREWING ASSOCIATION
SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS

There are millions of tons of grass, weeds, sorghum stubble, cotton stalks, etc., on the fields of Texas today that could be plowed under right now, and they are green and in condition to grow quickly and so there will be time to decompose before crops are planted on the land. Besides having the physical cultivation of the soil and increasing its water-holding capacity by the addition of humus, it will conserve the fertility of the soil by stopping the further sipping of plant food supply by stopping the growth of useless vegetation. The turning back that plant food already locked up in the plants before they dry up and blow away or are mowed up. You will destroy millions of weeds by destroying the immature plants. You will exercise the best preparatory measures against insect pests by destroying their fall breeding places and their winter hibernating quarters in the fields. Then, finally, you will make surer profitable yield next year, not only because of having the soil in the best possible physical condition, but because the oxidation of green vegetation is just what is needed in the soil to unlock the mineral elements in the soil, so essential to the growth of profitable crops, make it available for the feeding of the plants. Don't wait for your tation to dry up so you can burn it, but plow it under right now.

PLOWING AND CULTIVATING.

Early plowing under, deep and complete, of the green cotton stubble will stop the breeding of boll-weevils and lessen the number of that pest in winter hibernating quarters. It, also, by covering up the vegetable and making the fields clean, those you do leave away from the field to seek winter quarters, and turning up of trash, rubbish and timber adjacent to the field will kill others. Then by planting a non-branched, quick maturing variety of cotton, as remote from other cotton fields as your will permit and pushing the crop back growth and early fruiting by clean and clean cultivation, and the use of barnyard manure as fertilizer if possible, you will make some of the best cotton weevils next year. It is better to handle a few acres this way than to plant many and to feed it to the boll-weevils old way. A few acres well tilled and the surplus acres sowed in peas would mean more fertile and richer farmers than the rest of the system. But anyway, plow the green cotton stubble good and right now.

More Than Enough Is Too Much.

To maintain health, a mature man needs just enough food to keep the waste and supply energy. The habitual consumption of more food than is necessary for these purposes is the prime cause of such troubles, rheumatism and indigestion, revise your diet, let and not appetite control and a few doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will be all right for sale by All Dealers.

How Catarrh is Contracted.

Mothers are sometimes so thoughtless as to neglect the odds which their children contract. The inflammation of the mucous membrane, at first acute, becomes chronic and the child has chronic catarrh, a disease that is seldom cured and that may prove a life's burden. Many persons who have this loathsome disease will remember having had frequent colds at the time it was contracted. A little forethought, a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy judiciously used, and all this trouble might have been avoided. Obtainable everywhere.

BASEBALL AS KNOWN TODAY WAS INVENTED BY ORIOLES

John McGraw, Hugh Jennings and Other Members of Famous Team Originated "Inside Stuff."

The old Baltimore team of 1894-5, one of the greatest teams ever got together, originators of the new style of ball play, was a galaxy of athletes who were endowed with brains and brawn, and made them count in the game of baseball. With a pitching staff composed of such mediocre hurlers as Hemming, Esper and Hopper, with the old stars who were in the sere and yellow, such as Tony Mullane, "Kid" Gleason and "Dumpling" McMan, the team won three pennants. Later it added Arlie Pond and Jimmy McJames. All these hurlers made records in games won owing to the brilliancy of the team behind them.

A most peculiar fact about the famous Baltimore team of 1894-5 was that they were all at one time or another battery men. Johnny McGraw began his career on the diamond as a pitcher, and was credited with being very tricky, but a fierce kicker. Hugh Jennings was no false alarm as a catcher, and his friends declare that he made a mistake when he switched for an infield position. "Wee Willie" Keeler was a left-handed hurler, but lacked weight for pitching, but seemed to have the necessary avoidpous to hit a ball as hard as the best. The noted Ed Hanlon, manager of the team, used to pitch before taking to the outfield.

Then there was Joe Kelley of the Torontos. When Joe was a full-fledged Oriole he played the outfield, but Mr. Kelley won considerable fame as a hurler of curves and otherwise. Even "Big Dan" Brouthers began his baseball career as a pitcher, but that was away back. Reitz, the second baseman, also infield F. Bonner, were good catchers, and spent part of their minor league days behind the bat, and the famous Walter (Steve) Brodie was a clever backstopper at one time. So every player on that famous old team won his spurs either as a pitcher of curves or as a receiver of them.

Four of the greatest managers in the game, and "Kid" Gleason is in line for a big league job as manager, and it's not to be wondered at that the Baltimore team of those days won pennants with J. McGraw, Hugh Jennings, Wilbur Robinson, Joe Kelley in its ranks, and Edward Hanlon, the manager of managers, at the helm.

Life Bright for "Kiddies" Whose Parents Follow the Advice of Luther Burbank

Luther Burbank, the famous wonder worker among flowers, fruits and vegetables, has not forgotten to study the rearing of children as well. According to his advice the child's education should be largely of his own working out in a happy world of mud-pies, grasshoppers, tadpoles, and frogs. There should be trees to climb, brooks to wade in, various animals to pet, and all kinds of little creatures to study. "Any child who has been deprived of these has been deprived of the best part of his education," says Mr. Burbank.

Many mothers agree with this idea and would encourage any actual book work for very young children beyond perhaps reading and writing. Little girls should be sent off to skip and dance and cook instead of to do sums and dictation. The oculists tell us that no child should read type in which the capitals are under a quarter of an inch high and that he should use his eyes if possible on large things and out in the open. Eye-strain and effort of attention are source of the nerve disorders too common in children.

Colleges of Presidents.

Three presidents of the United States have been Harvard men, the Adamses and Roosevelts. Two have been Princeton men, Madison and Wilson. Jefferson, Monroe and John Tyler were from William and Mary. Polk was graduated from the University of North Carolina, Pierce from Bowdoin, Buchanan from Dickinson, Hayes from Kenyon, Garfield from Williams, Arthur from Union, Benjamin Harrison from Miami and Taft from Yale. Although there have been a dozen soldiers elected to the presidency because of their military achievements, Grant is the only West Point graduate.

A Distinctive Reason

What is the chief reason for the superiority of Royal Baking Powder?

There are several good reasons, but there is one which distinguishes Royal from other baking powders.

This reason, which every woman should know, is that Royal Baking Powder is made from cream of tartar, which comes from grapes. This means a healthful fruit origin. It means natural food as distinguished from mineral substitutes used in other baking powders.

There is no alum nor phosphate in Royal Baking Powder.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Merriman of Pearland are here on a visit to relatives. Jim is recovering from a severe attack of dengue fever.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Tomerlin, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Ball and Dan Bouringhouse of the Yancey neighborhood left yesterday for Sabinal on a visit.

The ladies of the Cemetery Association will give a dinner, Thursday, Nov. 2nd, in the Leinweber building. Everybody is requested to patronize the ladies and help a good cause.

J. M. Finger, president of the First National Bank, County Clerk and Mrs. S. A. Jungman, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Schweers, and Messrs B. G. Collier and J. W. Griffiths have all returned from the Dallas State Fair. They report the fair a big success.

Fletcher Davis returned Thursday night from Dallas where he was called to attend a conference of the Division heads and Field Agents of the State Department of Agriculture Monday and Tuesday. After the work of the conference was over, Mr. Davis took advantage of the opportunity to spend Wednesday visiting the Great State Fair now open in that city. Mr. Davis says the Fair is something great and that few people can fully realize its value to the state. He only regrets that business forced him to hurry away after little more than a glance at the many exhibits.

J. N. Mask, formerly of this place but now a business man of Jourdan, was dangerously injured, a leg of W. A. Reese was broken and other persons slightly cut by flying metal when a gas drum at the Atascosa County fair grounds in Jourdan exploded at 7 o'clock Saturday evening. Mr. Mask was connecting the drum with a soda water fountain when the explosion occurred. There was a large crowd near the scene and several were hit by flying bits of metal. A horse standing several yards away was struck and cut. Mr. Mask was sent to his home, where it was reported that he might lose the sight of one eye and that it was feared he was injured internally. Mr. Reese's leg was shattered below the knee and he left for San Antonio for treatment at once but afterwards died from his injuries. He was an alderman of the city of Jourdan. At last report Mr. Mask was recovering.

Artichokes.

Artichoke is a coming vegetable. The French have shown us its utility.

The plant grows wild in southern Europe.

The artichoke is a graceful plant, several feet high.

Its handsome leaves and fine appearance recommend it for ornamental use.

The artichoke belongs to the same family as the daisy and the sunflower.

The part which is eaten is the flat, circular disk which bears the flowers.

The tender base of the disk is also eaten after the heads are boiled tender.

Dressed with oil and vinegar, the tender parts of boiled artichoke make a good salad.

Law is a high board fence. The rich and strong climb over it and the poor are caught hanging half way up.

TEMPTING DISHES

Chop boiled spinach fine and mix thoroughly with a raw egg. Mold and put in the oven a minute to cook.

A spoonful of boiled and grated fresh corn or one of the canned corn, if heated and put in the bottom of the soup plate just before the tomato soup is poured in, makes a dish decidedly new and appetizing.

The top of the round is often cut up in inch cubes, browned slightly and then stewed in enough water to cover it. This is put in the middle of the platter and then surrounded with boiled noodles to make a tasty dish.

For anyone who likes cooked bananas a very good idea is to cut the fruit very, very fine and then add to the hot cake batter and cook the same as the ordinary hot cakes. Grated corn is also very good if used in the same manner.

Brown Stew.

Two pounds and a half of neck and shoulder of fresh beef cut in small pieces. If too fat, remove some of it, wash meat and put on stove in about two quarts or more of hot water in a good-sized kettle. Add two onions sliced thin, two good-sized carrots cut in dice, three medium potatoes cut up. Stew should cook about three and a half hours. Don't boil too hard.

Should be quite thick and very dark rich brown in color and not fat. Put in onions, carrots, salt and pepper when you put on the meat; put in potatoes about one-half hour before stew is done.

Calves' Liver and Bacon.

Cook rare eight slices of bacon in the blaze; lift the bacon out, leaving the fat in the pan; put in eight slices of liver cut thin and lightly dusted with flour, and cook for five minutes, turning continually; now put the bacon back to finish, adding a tablespoonful of butter and salt and pepper to taste. Then serve.

Thank You.

The response to our request to pay up back subscriptions has indeed been most gratifying, and we now have the cleanest subscription list in the history of this paper. We wish to thank not only those who have responded to our statements but those who have renewed without waiting to become in arrears as well. If you have not yet renewed your subscription for another year or belong to that few who have not yet paid up your back subscription account we would appreciate your attention to the same. We are doing our best to tide over these hard times and high paper prices without raising the price of subscription and you can help us materially by attending promptly to this matter.

Thanking you again, I am,
Yours to serve,

Thousands Behind

Three to fifty per hour on high—that's the speed report we get from owners all over the country.

And 20 to 25 miles per gallon of gas is the economy report.

A corking good car—

A price that makes it the greatest value on the face of the earth—

That combination has kept the factory thousands of cars behind sales for weeks and weeks.

But we're getting them in right along. Better see us about yours today.

FOR RHUBARB PIES

RECIPES THAT HAVE BEEN TRIED AND NOT FOUND WANTING.

Fine Served With a Form of Mince-meat—Mixed With Raisins—Two Kinds of Rhubarb Meringue Are Recommended.

Mince Rhubarb Pie.—One cupful of rhubarb, after chopping fine, one-half cupful sugar, one-half cupful best molasses, one-half cupful water, one-half cupful raisins chopped, one and a half crackers, rolled, one egg, one-half teaspoonful cinnamon, one-fourth teaspoonful cloves, a little nutmeg, a little salt and one tablespoonful butter. Bake with two crusts. This makes two pies.

Mock Lemon Pie.—One cupful rhubarb, three-fourths cupful sugar, yolks of two eggs, two tablespoonfuls of sweet cream. Flavor with lemon extract, bake in one crust and frost with whites of two eggs and two tablespoonfuls of sugar.

Rhubarb and Raisin Pie.—Two cupfuls of rhubarb and one cupful of raisins, chopped together quite fine, one cupful sugar, one teaspoonful cinnamon, a little salt and bits of butter. Bake in two crusts.

Delicious Rhubarb Pie.—Line a deep pie plate with crust and cut fine enough rhubarb to nearly fill the plate, and put it in a saucepan. Mix one-half teaspoonful cornstarch with a little cold water and stir into one-half cupful boiling water, pour over rhubarb, add a small handful of seedless raisins and at least one and a half cupfuls of sugar (the amount depends upon the acidity of the rhubarb); beat all together, but do not boil. Bake with two crusts.

Rhubarb Meringue Pie.—Beat the yolks of two eggs, add one tablespoonful cornstarch, one cupful of sugar and one cupful of finely-chopped rhubarb, turn into pie plate lined with rich crust and bake; when done cool slightly, then frost with the two whites beaten stiff, three tablespoonfuls sugar and one teaspoonful of lemon extract. Brown lightly in the oven.

Rhubarb Meringue Pie No. 2.—To one cupful of finely-chopped rhubarb, add one cupful of sugar and the grated rind of one lemon, put one teaspoonful of cornstarch in a cup, moisten with a little cold water, then fill the cup with boiling water and add to it the rhubarb, then add the beaten yolks of three eggs. Bake with one crust and when cold cover with meringues of the whites of the three eggs and three tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar and brown lightly.

CONSERVE ALL FARM MANURE

Necessary for Farmer to Save All Fertilizers Produced—Sheltered Pit Should Be Made.

During the present potato famine it is necessary for every farmer to conserve carefully all the farm manures produced. It is a well-known fact that farm manures contain a large proportion of the potash that was originally in the plants consumed by the animals. The amount of potash in the manure varies directly with the amount in the plants. Those animals fond of plants running high in potash produce a manure running high in this element. Goat manure is a striking illustration. Animals fond of plants running high in ammonia produce a manure high in ammonia. Horse and cattle manure are in this class. Poultry manure runs high in ammonia and phosphoric acid.

Dean P. H. Rolfs of the University of Florida college of agriculture calls attention to the fact that the ammonia, potash and phosphoric acid content of the manures of these farm animals is in the best condition for use as a fertilizer. If the manures are not protected against leaching rains, the soluble fertilizers or the fertilizing elements available to plants will be washed out and the manures will lose a large amount of their value.

A manure pit, sheltered against rain, should be provided on every farm. There is no better fertilizer and at the same time there is no more profitable form of fertilizer to employ than farm manure.
